

C. H. C. 20

26 Elizabeth Street
Hobart. March 28th 1887

dear Andrew.

Although I have not had "official intimation" that you have been appointed Attorney General, I am told that such is the case.

I need hardly tell you how my heart rejoices that you have at last attained that position. My thoughts go back over the long years during which I have enjoyed your precious friendship and I recall the untold benefit which I have derived from that esteemed privilege - to you, and many others, more than it is possible to record, and I can sincerely

Say, that it is to your influence, I believe it is owing, that I have taken any sincere interest in the higher and nobler things of life. That that influence, which has been so potent for good, in your private circle, may now extend with like power till it embraces the whole of our dear native land, is my sincerest wish. Long may you enjoy your present position, not for its honors and its pecuniary benefits, but that Time may aid you to dispel those aspersions which, in the past, have so frequently assailed you;
and, when the strife is ended, whether in office or out, may your name go down to future generations, as one, who in the midst of self seeking and personal ambition, had the moral courage to stand by those principles he recenred and who, at all times, considered the highest aim of an honest man to be - Loyalty to Honor and to Truth.

I am, Dear Andrew
Your ever affectionate friend
M. A. W.