

216 Victoria Street
Sydney Nov 25

My dear Clark (for now you have named your boy after me I cannot call you "Me" any more.) - I send you this note which Mr. Jeffrey says he sent you. He does not seem yet to have been able to knock up the "Lessons" but will do so. I am terribly busy - having to pack my trunk for the "Indus" which sails tomorrow, & also study up my lecture on Emerson which is to be given this evening at the School of Arts under distinguished auspices.
I also lecture again at the Theatre Sunday evening, and so on Monday to contact the "Indus" at Melbourne. I have given a card of introduction to you to a distinguished member of the English Parliament, Mr. Eustace Smith. Please introduce him to Mr. Johnston.

He is a very rich man but also simple and friendly. There is no need you should give him any entertainment. I have told him your wife was lately confined.

I am sorry to be in such a hurry.

My address in Melbourne will be to H. F. Turner, Comd.
Bank of Australia.

Ever yours M. D. Conway

Dear Sir

At the request of our common friend Mr. Moncure D. Conway I send you from him per book-post the book "A Recklace of Stories" and shall send also "Lessons for the Day" when I am able to collect them. Hoping this will reach you safely

I am

Yours faithfully
(Sgd) A. J. Jeffray
