

24/C 190

JUDGES' CHAMBERS,
BRISBANE.

9th Aug. 1900

My dear Clark

Many thanks for the copy of your paper on the Appellate Provisions of the Transwelta Bill, which I have read more than once, a which, I hope, will be published.

I quite agree, but I think a single Council of Appeal for the whole Empire would be a good thing. I have very little proposal for the S. C. as now constituted

They often fail to deal with the real points in the case at all.

I was not at all in Sympathy with Wey's methods - I do not think I should have interfered at all "if the drafting of the proposed compromise had not been so confused & faulty The provisions of 1891 (which however required perhaps verbal amendment-) were better than those of 1898 and I see no reason to depart - materially from my opinion 79 years ago. The last change was made at Melbourne recently.

without proper consideration of the points raised & omitted. I think Warton in London was trying to retain the standards he had made in drafting in ~~London~~ Melbourne, & is doing so with still more blindness

Yours very truly

J. W. Griffiths

C4/C190

S.W. Griffith

9th August 1900

Judges' Chambers,
Brisbane

My dear Clark

Many thanks for the copy of your paper on the Appellate Provisions of the Commonwealth Bill, which I have read more than once, & which, I hope, will be published. I quite agree, but I think a single Court of Appeal for the whole nation ^{Empire} would be a good thing. I have very little respect for the P.C, as now constituted. They often fail to deal with the real point in the case at all.

I was not at all in sympathy with Way's methods - I do not think I should have intervened at all if the drafting of the proposed compromise had not been so confused and faulty.

The provisions of 1891 (which however required perhaps verbal amendment) were better than those of 1898 and I see no reason to depart materially from my opinion of 9 years ago. The last changes were made at Melbourne hurriedly and without proper consideration of the words used and omitted. I think that Barton in London was trying to retrieve the blunder he had made in drafting in Melbourne and in doing so made still worse blunders

Yours Very Truly

S.W. Griffith