My Dear Judge

I am truly sorry to hear of your illness - but I hope that you will be perfectly well by the time this reaches you and therefore will say nothing. I cannot recall having received your second letter and I never mean to hear a letter from you unless answered. I do not think I have done so - but I do not know where to what may have happened in the heat of work.

Lord work like Hayes for Shasta and low an idling and reading books, but this morning it is "The King of English" which has tempted me from his case. I have read but happily it is not worth enough to turn to "Cann & Fair", "A Little Darker" shows much interest in some American Social and political books - Exp. "Destin" board of all that he writes and Ross. "Paul Carters" - a highly cheap little popular work. I have announced my copy to some friends and shipped board buying with "Rabbits".

and I am afraid - and I have on hand a book on the Roman Law which I do not wish to give up which I have of some value. A young lady, an occasional intelligent young lady, is in the way of any at work?
There are my amusements - The whole is made difficult by our So I have some about the part of the time which I have just brought back from Paris. We had some Stop Chicago from draining into the River and thence, after 350 miles within State, into the Mississippi. My Attorney White and I, who quarrelled, came against each other in a divorce case which stirred up the monkeys. but in the main it was a pretty peach year. So you can be as kind to your wife and daughter. how will return to my post and study over now the difference between white

My Dear Judge

I am truly sorry to hear of your illness, but I infer that you will be perfectly well by the time this reaches you and therefore will say no more. I cannot recall having received your second edition and I never mean to leave a letter from you un-answered. I do not think I have done so but I do not dare swear to what may have happened in the heat of work & worry. I did work like blazes for 8 months and now am idling and reading books. At this moment it is 'The King's English' which has taught me some mistakes I have made but happily itself is not well enough written to cause despair. A little earlier I was much interested in some American Sociological books - e.g. Lester Ward (all that he writes) and Ross 'Social Controls' - a mighty sharp little popular work. I have amused myself with some law and slightly bored myself with Rabelais and Euripides - and I have on hand a book on the Roman Law which Fred Pollock cracks up which I doubt if I shall attack. A rare lady, an occasional intelligent youth - no dinners after the many at work - these are my amusements. The wheel is made difficult by automobiles, so I don't go much further than the post office from which I have just brought back your letter. We had some [piece torn out of bottom of page] that I wrote in a suit by Missouri vs Illinois to stop Chicago from draining into the Ill. river and thence, after 350 miles within the State, into the Mississippi. My colleague White and I, who generally agree, ran against each other in a divorce case which stirred up his monkies - but in the main it was a pretty peaceful year. Do remember me most kindly to your wife and daughter. Now I will return to my books and study once more how to distinguish between which and that. [piece torn from page]

My dear Judge

will be perfectly well by the time this reaches you and therefore wish say nothing. I cannot recall having heard you recd. letters and I have tried to hear a little from you and answered. I do not think I have done so but I don't know I mean to say that may have happened in the heat of work.

Did work like blazes for Sholem and how am I doing and reading books, like this moment it is 'The King of England' - which has things on some mistakes that made but happily it is not work Enough written to cause a pain. Alittle Earlier I was much interested in Some American Sociological books - Esp. Lester Ward of all that he wrote and Ross. 'Social Control' - a mighty thick little popular work. I have announced myself with some cause and shepherds boys buying with Rabbin and I'm afraid - and I have on hand

I've been cracking up which I don't yet shall attack. A darned long, an occasional intelligent youth - he drives after the day at work? then are my amusements - the which is made difficult by authorship So I must punch about in the provinces for which I have but brought back one volume. We had some that I wrote in a Suit by Missouri or Illinois to stop Chicago from draining into the River and thence, after 350 miles through State, into the Mississippi. My Chicago Whits and I, who generally agree, came against each other in a divorce case which stirred up the workers. but in the main it was a pretty peaceful year. Do you remember us most kindly to your wife and Douglas. how to will return to my place and study over now the distance between the and that -
