J. PATERSON & SON, ENGINEERS

J. Paterson & Sons were blacksmiths, engineers, boilermakers and machinists of Orient Iron Works, Collins Street, Hobart. These two items are not the main company records but papers relating to a case in the Small Debts Court over costs of repairs to the engines of SS. Waldemar brought by Capt. Williams, and probably came from the solicitor in the case.

- P.2/1 Letter book - outward correspondence Sept. 1904 - Jan. 1905
Copies or drafts of letters written in pencil in an exercise book about supply of machinery, parts, repairs to engines, including notes on repairs to the boiler and engines of SS. Waldemar.
(quarto Walch's exercise book)
- 2 Paterson v. Williams in re "Waldemar" Aug. 1905
Papers relating to a case brought by Capt. Williams of SS. Waldemar, under the Small Debts Act jurisdiction, against Paterson & Son claiming they overcharged, including accounts for work done on "Waldemar", promissory notes etc.
