

55 William Street,

Melbourne 5 March 1887

My dear Andrew,

Your last letter duly to hand, and I at once made enquires at Robertson's & Mullen's for the Chief Records &c - Neither had it - Robertson never had it - Mullen got out about a doz copies of these were disposed of. Mullen ordered some fresh copies 2 or 3 weeks ago. Shall I secure one of these?

Thanks for paper containing report of your address at Town Hall. I also read it in a Tasmanian News sent to me - It reads very well, and seemed to have produced a good impression - I should gather from your utterances that you are not such a bigoted free trader as erstwhile. I shall be glad if you develop into a same protectionist - I have considered protection from a democratic standpoint, and I am painfully aware that its principles jar against the doctrine of brotherhood

- against that free fellowship of states and nations which we dream shall lead up to a federated world -
We are far from the realisation of this, and I think it behoves young communities to adopt such measures as will give their internal resources a show - This is only a temporary expedient. It is not desired to form part of ~~that~~ those communities' policy, when they have strengthened and matured. Young in this colony, I am impressed by one thing more than others, and that is the remarkable energy and dignity which the protective policy of this Colony has given to labor of the more intelligent class.

It is true that mistakes have been made and a principle good up to a certain point has been carried too far;
and so far as it has thus been passed it is no worse - The movement of the Gippsland hopgrowers to shut out foreign hops is an infringement of the principle seeing that hop culture will never be a success in this Colony, and the attempt to develop it will be utterly wrong. A good deal has been said about baneful monopolies arising under protection. These have not arisen here - Competition has been encouraged, and living is quite as cheap as Sydney where free trade principles prevail but will be soon supplanted by protection ones.

When I opened the "Age" this morning I was greatly pleased to find that you had been returned for S Hobart by a large majority. I congratulate you very sincerely and I hope that your presence in the House will influence legislation in a way that will make our native isle more attractive to us than it has been in the past. Your former labors have never been properly acknowledged.

I intend to write presently to that remarkable mute Willie.
It is a subject for commiseration that Mahumony has struck him into such a Sphinx like silence.
It would appear that Maxon has got much to answer for.
With love to Mrs Clark all the boys and the Kinchins.
Believe me
Ever affectionately yours
J. A. Aton
