Dear Andrew,

I got your letter yesterday & need hardly say how overjoyed I was by the intelligence contained in it. and how eagerly I am awaiting your arrival.

Let us postpone all topics of common interest till your arrival. ^{now} talk of what relates more closely to your trip here.

As to lodgings. - I think I can say I can secure for these for you in our quarters & so contrive that you & I shall share the same room. There are but 3 rooms - for sleeping purposes - for lodgers in our "crib". There are 6 of us. I sleep in the same room as Findlay - who is at present in Isosua - who will not share it with any one else. However Mr. Findlay told me this morning she had would arrange it, so you can make your mind easy on this score.

However, if you should prefer a separate room, I can get you lodgings in Royal Terrace - (the best quarters in town -) for about 30/- a week or at some good & quiet hotel for about 42/- a week; but at our place we only pay 25/- week includes Extras.
I hope you will be able to see your way clear to adopt this last course. The living leaves nothing to be desired in the way of creature comforts but of course I say nothing as to the society - which is anything but congenial (I mean in a literary sense). However, you look to mind this. We will be ready always out together & will only use the place as a cubicle.
The address is 21 Moor St, Fitzroy, ^{which street is} exactly opposite the end of the Carlton Gardens.

You have plenty of time to write me before coming - so if there is anything I can do to assist you in any way you have only to name it. If possible, I must probably, I will be on the Wharf ^{when} you arrive, but if not leave your traps on board & ask some one to direct you to Little Collins Street & in that street, half way between Queen St & William Street, you will find 66 Chancery Lane & yours truly.

I will have the "permits," ~~the~~ & everything else that can make your stay a pleasant one in Reading, & meanwhile will occupy myself in counting the days that are yet to Elapse.

By the way - before I forget - let me tell you to be sure & bring over with you a pair of shoes or boots with no nails in them.
Otherwise your life will be a misery.

This letter is written in a great hurry & all topics are postponed because I have not, literally, a moment to myself. The Civil sittings begin to morrow. We have 9 important cases & most of our Briefs are late & as there are 3 Counsel in most of them you can imagine the amount of work to be got through.

I have taken engagements home every night & have been working about 14 hours a day. I am quite knocked up, so you will Excuse short comings & scribbles.

I am in receipt of letters from E. I, & C. P. 7. Please acknowledge them with thanks & say why mention the causes of delay.
Remember me affectionately to Wilton. He is a long time writing. I can fancy he has had enough of me.

I send you an Argus containing the Cause List - over 80 cases - with ours marked.

In great haste, good bye

Your affectionate friend
