Mysticism and Mythology: Embracing the Asian Malay Tradition

by

Maznah Ahmad

MFA(RMIT), BA HONS(Hull), DipEd(NIE), DipBusStud(NgeeAnn)

Submitted in partial fulfilment of the requirements for the degree of

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY (FINE ART)
UNIVERSITY OF TASMANIA
May 2011
Contents

Contents ................................................................................................................................... ii
Statement of Originality........................................................................................................ iv
Acknowledgements ............................................................................................................... iv
List of Figures ...................................................................................................................... v
List of Abbreviations ......................................................................................................... vi
Abstract .............................................................................................................................. xiii
Chapter 1: Introduction ..................................................................................................... 1
Chapter 2: Contemporary Art .......................................................................................... 5
  2.1 Phenomena of Art ........................................................................................................ 6
  2.2 Contemporary Aesthetics ........................................................................................... 11
  2.3 Art of Today ............................................................................................................... 12
  2.4 The Aesthetic Fuss .................................................................................................... 20
  2.5 The History of Art Philosophy .................................................................................. 21
  2.6 Philosophy of Art and Sociological Phenomenon ..................................................... 23
  2.7 Linking the Philosophy of Art to Critical Theory ...................................................... 26
  2.8 Twenty-First Century Capitalism and Art Market Hype ........................................... 27
  2.9 Summary ................................................................................................................... 33
Chapter 3: The Intriguing Malays ...................................................................................... 35
  3.1 Early Asia ................................................................................................................... 35
  3.2 The Origin of the Malay ........................................................................................... 37
    3.2.1 The Malay World (Alam Melayu) .................................................................. 38
    3.2.2 Early Social Structure ..................................................................................... 38
    3.2.3 The Malay Language ......................................................................................... 39
  3.3 Cultural History .......................................................................................................... 40
    3.3.1 Religion and Value Systems ............................................................................. 40
    3.3.2 Hindu Asceticism and Sufism .......................................................................... 42
    3.3.3 Colonisation and Scholarship ......................................................................... 44
    3.3.4 Malay Philosophy ............................................................................................. 44
    3.3.5 Malay Literature and Mythological Tradition ................................................... 45
    3.3.6 Malay Art ......................................................................................................... 46
    3.3.7 Modern Malay Visual Arts .............................................................................. 51
  3.4 Postcolonialism and Identity Making ....................................................................... 55
    3.4.1 Cultural Imperialism in the West ..................................................................... 55
Statement of Originality

This thesis contains no material which has been accepted for a degree or diploma by the University or any other institutions. To the best of my knowledge and belief, it incorporates no material previously published or written by another person except where due acknowledgement is made.

MAZNAH AHMAD

Statement of authority of access to copying

This thesis may be made available for loan and limited copying in accordance with the Copyright Act 1968.

MAZNAH AHMAD
Acknowledgements

Professor Emeritus Vincent McGrath,
School of Visual and Performing Arts, University of Tasmania
Professor Emeritus Barbara Hatley,
School of Asian Languages and Studies, University of Tasmania
Professor Marie Sierra,
Head, School of Visual and Performing Arts, University of Tasmania
Professor Peter Frappell,
Dean of Graduate Research, University of Tasmania
NEW Gallery, Newnham Campus, University of Tasmania
Robert Boldkald and Amelia Rowe
Dr M Agus Burhan,
Curator, Galeri Nasional Indonesia
and Dean of Fine Arts, Indonesian Institute of the Arts, Yogyakarta (ISI)
Dra. Djanjeng Purwosudjati,
Indonesian Institute of the Arts, Yogyakarta (ISI)
Dr Ida Rochani Adi, S.U.,
Dean, Faculty of Cultural Sciences, Gadjah Mada University (UGM)
Dr Amir Ma'raf, M.Hum,
Deputy Dean, Faculty of Cultural Sciences, Gadjah Mada University (UGM)
Mr Agus Ismoyo and Ms Nia Fliam, Brahma Tirta Sari
Mr Nindityo Adipurnomo, Cemeti Art House, Yogyakarta
Museum Batik Danar Hadi, Surakarta
Museum Affandi, Yogyakarta
Artisans from Batik Wukirsari, Imogiri, Yogyakarta
Artisans from YANTO BATIK, Guwosari, Pajangan, Bantul, Yogyakarta
Dr Lisa Lines for proofreading
Dzul, Huze and Haze Kamarom for love, trust and support
Jodi Tang and Matthew J. Pitchforth for true friendship
Abstract

The search for one's identity cannot be reduced to the glorification of the ancestral past. It must look towards the future and have due regard to the sense of history.

Zainol Shariff (1994)

This project engages social and cultural discourses of Malay art, as part of identity-making and personal reflection, as I embrace this rich tradition in life and in making art. I have formulated contextual frameworks from significant contemporary aesthetic concepts and theories, as I search for self, truth and beauty in the sublime phenomena of art.

This exegesis examines the distinctive traditional creative traits and art sources of the Malay people while reflecting on the current influences and challenges of twenty-first century art making. Claims of shifts in power in the international art market, from the West to the East, made by Fenema (1996), and the persistent thinness of critical thinking on art identified by Jit (1994), make this project significant to the development of the sociology of the art landscape for modern Malays.

I developed a collection of investigative visual art works, using the traditional batik medium, as a form of personal engagement, understanding and appreciation of this traditional Malay painting technique. This is drawn from visual discourses based on significant Asian historical and sociological data, relevant concepts, models and theories through biblical studies and an observational field trip to Yogyakarta and Surakarta, Indonesia. By cross-referencing concepts and theoretical analysis with a practical investigative process, I sharpened my critical observational and reasoning skills as an Asian research candidate and visual arts practitioner.

The writing and artwork presented in this project attempt to capture the contemporary practice of Malay visual arts that is shaped by a colossal struggle to balance tradition, innovation and continuity with the epistemology and ontology of art in the twenty-first century.