4th July 1883

My dear Andrew from me, my faithful child, to thee greeting and warm re-remembrances - Just a few lines to you on this day, which has played so great a part in the annals of our friendship.
I made previous enquiries but could not ascertain that there would be any public recognition of the day in Melbourne. This afternoon I attended at the Consul's office in Collins St W, and presented my respects to the President The consul, Mr G M Spencer received me very kindly, and after shaking hands with me entered into a few minutes conversation in the course of which he informed me that beyond a few evening parties he was not aware of any other celebration of the day in this city. There were about 20 or 25 fellows present in the Consul's chambers which were draped with various flags, and had a banquet table set out. While I was there, I had the pleasure of drinking a champagne bumper to the toast of "The Queen and the President of the U.S. of A." which was briefly proposed by Mr Spencer. I did not stay more than a quarter of an hour, as I did not know any of the Americans present.

This little business gave me some satisfaction, although it was colorless enough compared to those indeed glorious Fourth's the memory of which was painfully present with me to day; and when I drank the toast I mentally coupled it with all the boys in the faith with the father in the chair. Close at hand where the Stars and Stripes were floating over the Consulate I noticed the Dutch and Netherlands flags flying over their respective Consulates.
I notice that there is a more ample recognition of the day in Sydney and probably George will have something to tell you. I have received a letter from the latter since his arrival in Sydney, in which he amusingly portrays the agonies he underwent at the hands of old Keacock, who gave him a sufficiently frightful dose of the ultra orthodox.

You will know ere this that I have left Klingender's, and the wherefore I am still at Wybourn's which will serve till something better offers. Wybourn is a rum stick, but of this and other subjects more anon. I had a conversation with Walter per telephone (connecting Wybourns and Klingender's) the other day, in which I ascertained his health was keeping up and that his brother was gone, a fact which gave us mutual satisfaction. W. sent me a testimonial on the eve of his departure, which is a satisfactory one, and will no doubt assist me in my future movements.

I wrote to Dowsett in the terms you suggested, but me know if you hear anything from England worth communicating. By the bye I did not tell you I met Ned Pitfield about a fortnight ago near the Albert Park Station - He told me he had given up the State School teaching and was then seeking some clerical employment in Ellbourne. He has seven children now. Nice! He also told me that his brother Jim the parson at Horsham, is so ill that he does not expect him to live out the year at the best. He appears much distressed in consequence of this.

Commend me to your honorable wife and Miss Emmy Johnny & Annet for me. I hear that the 2 former speak of me at times, and wonder when I am coming to see them. How I wish I could drop in upon them some Saturday, and tell them something of my experiences. Remember me to Willie and Bobbie, and those whom you know I have near at heart and believe me hear Andrew Ever affectionately,
P. H. H. H.
