

My dear Mr Clark

I was glad to receive your letter of the 22nd of November although it conveyed two statements which I was sorry to hear, - that you would not be in America this year & that Tasmania was deprived of your services in the responsible position you have so long filled

It is interesting to learn that our domestic politics are followed with so much interest in the antipodes

that celebrations are held there to commemorate an election here. I think Cleveland will give us a great administration. No president perhaps has entered office more untrammelled & better equipped. We may be certain that the extreme protectionist doctrines will never recover from the blow which they have received.
From there however to Free Trade is a long road.

I regret that Australian Confederation should be postponed.
The earlier a national feeling is implanted in a new country, the more healthy & vigorous is its growth in culture & self reliance & the quicker is it welded into a homogeneous whole. Until this self consciousness of unity exists the richest national life is not reached

Your subscription for the Academy's year & for the 2 back numbers was handed in, & trust that the receipt of the publications have already gone to you. I shall be much pleased if at any time you find opportunity to send any ^{of your pen} contributions for the pages of the annuals.

Meanwhile Believe me

Yours very Obedient

James Woods

40 Chestnut St
Philadelphia

January 12th
1893