My dear Aunt

I do not know if you had heard that my Father had been very serious ly ill. If you have not I am happy to be able to say that Maurice has written that he has recovered.
You must now I think of it have known of his illness as it was this had prevented Maurice paying you a visit as I intended. I trust to have his pleasure myself as soon as Kate is safe our less expected trouble.

So is I am thankful to say very active & cheerful. I have not heard of you for some time but trust you are well.
If I thought you would take a journey across the island now the winter has commenced I would invite you shortly to pay us a visit. I can however ask you to see only say that we will try to make you comfortable if you would come & spend the winter with us. I shall be happy to come across & escort you & Miss Bourne should you accept our invitation.

I do not know if you see much of your new neighbours but you must find them gentlemanly & agreeable young men. Mrs Clarke leaves with her daughter Fanny for Sydney the 1st of next month. Miss Moriarty was staying with us but was unwell & had to return to Mountf.
One of Kate's sisters is spending a few days with us just now.
Will love from Kate & myself I remain

Your affectionate nephew Edw Weston.
