THE UNIVERSITY OF TASMANIA

Hobart, 30 May, 1933

Dear Sirs,

In an edition of Cicero: Pro Caecili by R. G. Austin, lectures in Humanity at Glasgow (James Exhibitions Hall), (Clarendon Press, 1928) I find in p. xiv. Note: A complete translation of the speech appears in a Fanpolico Press edition of Catullus, by J. Lindsay [1927?], but it has many inaccuracies and is often little more than a paraphrase.

I think you will find that is true of all J. L. D. translations; the young man is not a good enough scholar for the job.

Very truly yours,

R. L. Dunshein

[With rushid's trans. May 1930 All about love]