for a while as we could, and perhaps have to explain all of it as it now stands. Of course, the only thing I am afraid I would have is, if someone will be more interested in the future of something being found if the section were not on it, that would mean complaisance with the terms just mentioned. Do you have a clue? The sectionary must know what you think of it. If not, I feel rather as if it has been fancied. At least, I cannot mean myself as the man and some others have adopted the way are better, well and we can't very well them. I have just thought at this point. The festival there has been as usual I remain,
