Dear Jane
I have
dear
Aunt

Holwell House

Aunt has asked me direct her letter for her, so I thought I would put a word in on my own account, as I find it will not make it too heavy. I quite hope thou will be able to make out most or a good deal of the dear Aunt's epistle for she she has written it as she says "very black" & I have easily read a few words myself without professing to peruse it.
She is wonderfully well & vigorous for her years. It would delight thee to see how bright she is still, & takes a great interest in all that goes on around her.

-She was at meeting yesterday, and afterwards went to call on Silvanus Thompson, wishing to see him again before they leave York, for they are expecting to go ~~west~~ after next to live at Setite. So we shall lose them, & very strange it will seem without them. But S. T. could not hear to see Aunt I was sorry to find, he is so very feeble, he cannot hear these heartaking, which to some stronger ones are trying things. It was very pleasant to hear a good & prosperous acctof thee by thy last interesting letter, for we are always glad to hear of thee though letters do not often pass between us - but the world grows so busy, it is difficult to some of us to keep pace with its rapid strides.
Now I have come to the end of my
