

My ever Dearest Love,

My sorrows almost overwhelm me I certainly love my Father so fondly, his displeasure I cannot endure, if I never may & cannot do it without his consider. my Dearest Robert Do not dis trust my affection for you I love you as I love myself, of this, I am but too conscious. I think of giving the inclosed to my Father, I dare not & candidly give me your opinion. O my dearest love had I but an heavenly friend in whom I could trust. yet let me intreat you to pray without ceasing for the word of God with none ever trusted in him & were confounded

Ann Benson to Robert Mather 1811.

This letter reveals the disapproval of the Rev'd. Joseph Benson to the attachment of Ann and Robert. He later gave his reluctant consent to their engagement.
They were married on the 16 October 1811 at St. Luke's Church, Old St, London.

therefore, continue to acknowledge God, then He may direct your steps. Let the word of God be the rule of your conduct; then you cannot err, remember the Judge of all the earth will do right. Should it not then be our greatest concern to have his approbation.
I have such an insupportable pain in my head, and my spirits are so low that it is with some difficulty that I can come to see you to day. indeed I am almost sick of life. was it not for a fatal state I would no longer endure this miserable existence, but you must forgive us all weans & continue to love & pray for your truly sincere & affectionate
