Party Politics and Democratization in Indonesia
Golkar in the post-Suharto era

Dirk Tomsa
Contents

List of illustrations
Preface
Acknowledgements
Abbreviations and glossary

1 Introduction: the remarkable resilience of Golkar
   Introduction 1
   The main argument 3
   Methodology 4
   Structure 6

2 Theoretical reflections: protracted transitions, uneven party institutionalization and the special role of former hegemonic parties
   Introduction 8
   The transition paradigm revisited 9
   The role of parties and the importance of party institutionalization 16
   Conclusion 33

3 Systemness: deconstructing the myth of Golkar's party machinery
   Introduction 35
   Golkar's genetic model and organizational developments during the New Order: a brief historical overview 36
   From Sabang to Merauke: assessing the territorial reach of Golkar's apparatus 40
   The party and its leader: factionalism, assertive regional cadres and the rise and fall of Akbar Tandjung 45
Contents

Party funding: challenges to financial sustainability  62
Conclusion  68

4 Decisional autonomy: the main problems lurk inside the party
Introduction  71
Golkar and the military: separated at last  72
Guided by greed: how money politics affects Golkar’s decisional autonomy  83
Conclusion  93

5 Value infusion: in search of Golkar’s roots
Introduction  95
The religious dimension: bridging traditional aliran structures  97
The regional dimension: is Golkar the voice of the Outer Islands?  103
The socio-economic dimension: sentimental nostalgia among the poor and Indonesia’s short-lived SARS syndrome  109
What exactly makes Golkar tick? – The rise of ‘ersatz’ values  114
Conclusion  120

6 Reification: mastering the use of symbols and the pitfalls of political communication
Introduction  122
What’s in a name? Banyan trees, yellow flags and the politics of symbolism  123
The politics of mass media representation  127
Looking beyond Jakarta: the impact of local media on party politics  136
Conclusion  149

7 Gauging uneven party institutionalization: how strong are the others?
Introduction  151
Systemness  152
Decisional autonomy  161
Value infusion  166
Reification  172
Conclusion  178

8 Conclusion and outlook: uneven party institutionalization and the future of democracy in Indonesia
Appendix II: composition of Golkar’s central board 2004–9  193
Appendix III: Golkar’s election results in 1999 and 2004, all provinces  195

Notes  198
Bibliography  231
Interviewees  253
Index  255