Kit Wise

A graduate of Oxford University and the Royal College of Art, Kit Wise studied in London, Paris, New York and Rome, before settling in Melbourne in 2002. Since arriving in Australia he has curated a number of national/international touring exhibitions, published over 30 catalogue essays and also writes for art journals such as Artlink, unMagazine and Frieze.

Working primarily with found-object based sculpture, installation, digital animation and web-based imagery, Kit Wise has exhibited nationally and internationally, addressing the increasingly fluid or plastic condition of the art work, the context of art works and the artist in contemporary culture.

He is currently a Senior Lecturer in Fine Art at Monash University, the Sculpture and Spatial Practice Studio Coordinator and the Bachelor of Fine Art Honours Course Coordinator. In 2006 he undertook an Australia Council Tokyo Studio residency and this talk will focus on the impact on his work of relocating to Australia and his recent time in Japan.
