Practitioners’ review will be invisible and therefore the ‘closing routine’ is an internalised activity. The review constitutes an immediate appraisal of many components; all the activities, the impressions made, the decisions considered and made, and the various resultant actions.